Customer Shopping Behavior Analysis

Made with GAMMA

3,900 purchases, one question: what should the business do next?

3,900

Purchase records

18

Columns: customer, purchase and behavior fields

01

Python

Preparation

02

SQL

Ten business questions

03

Power BI

Exploration

Made with GAMMA

Cleaning kept every record

37

Missing review ratings filled with the category median, not dropped

4

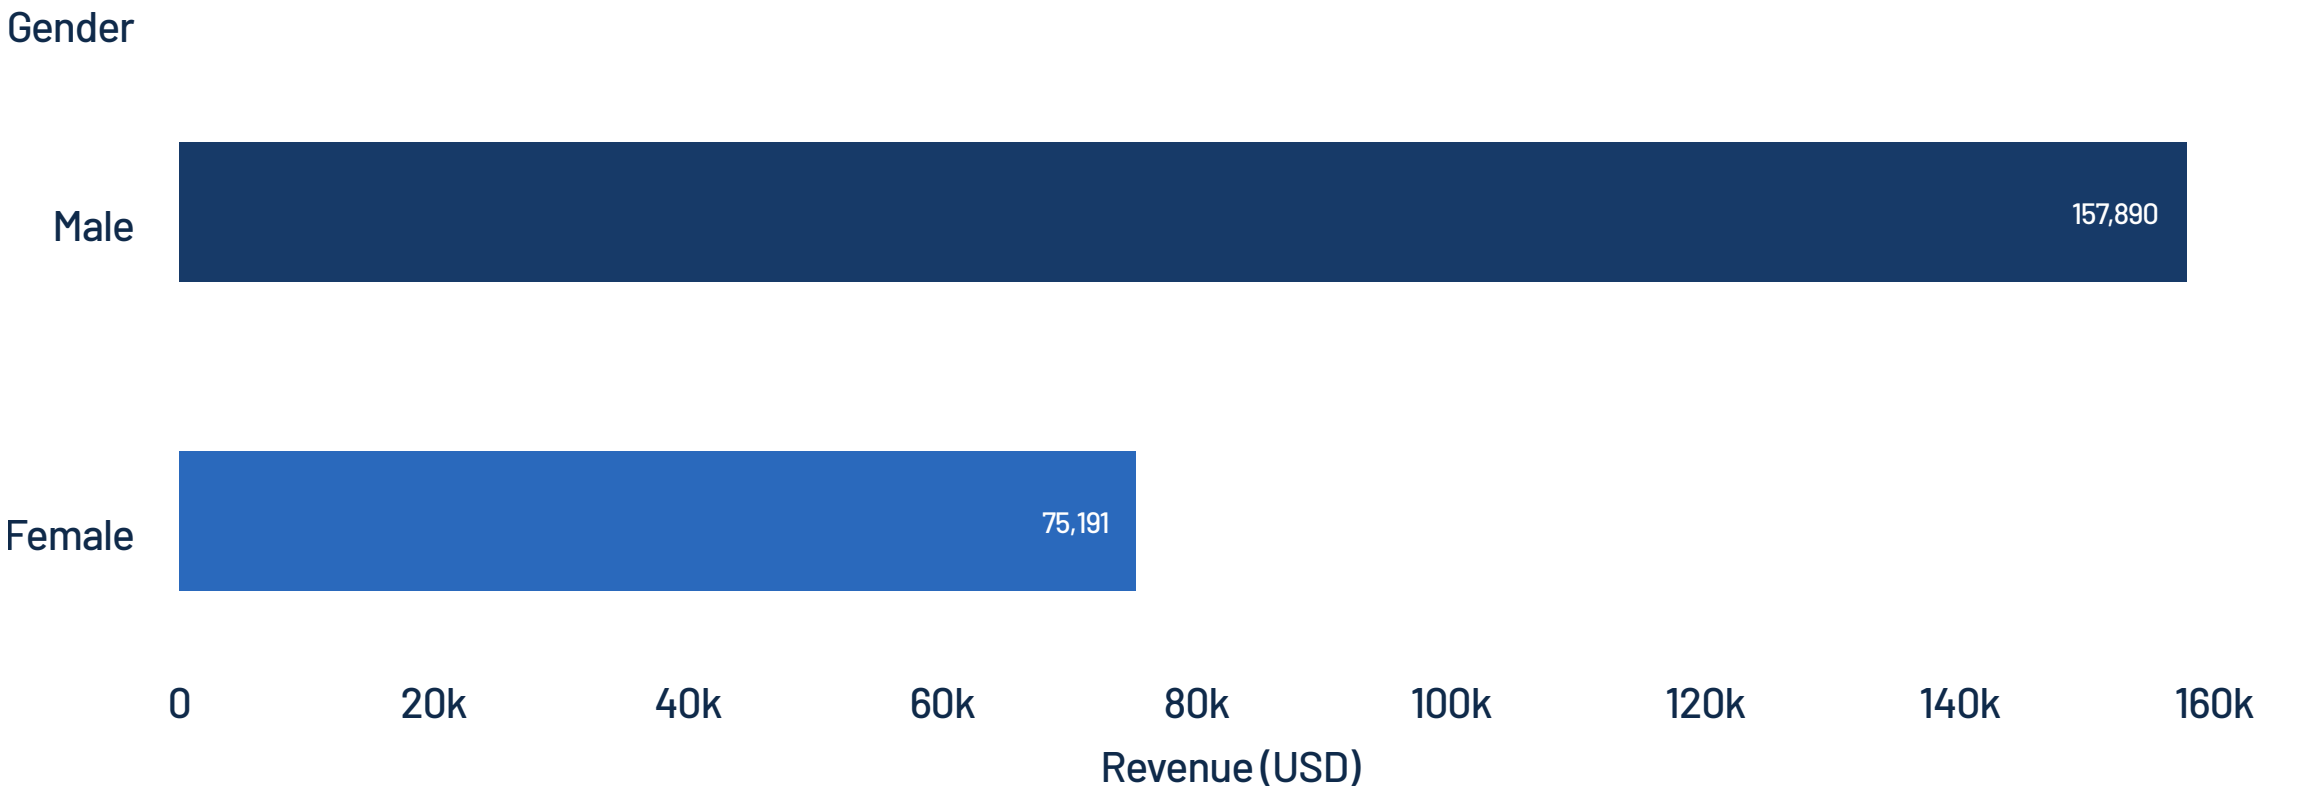

Age groups created, plus numeric purchase frequency in days

Promo code

Removed the redundant field, identical to discount applied

Made with GAMMA

Male customers drove twice the revenue of female customers

Male $157,890 · Female $75,191

A revenue comparison, not proof of higher spend per purchase.

Made with GAMMA

Subscribers spend about the same as non-subscribers

Subscribed

$59.49

Average spend

$62,645 revenue

1,053 subscribed records

Not subscribed

$59.87

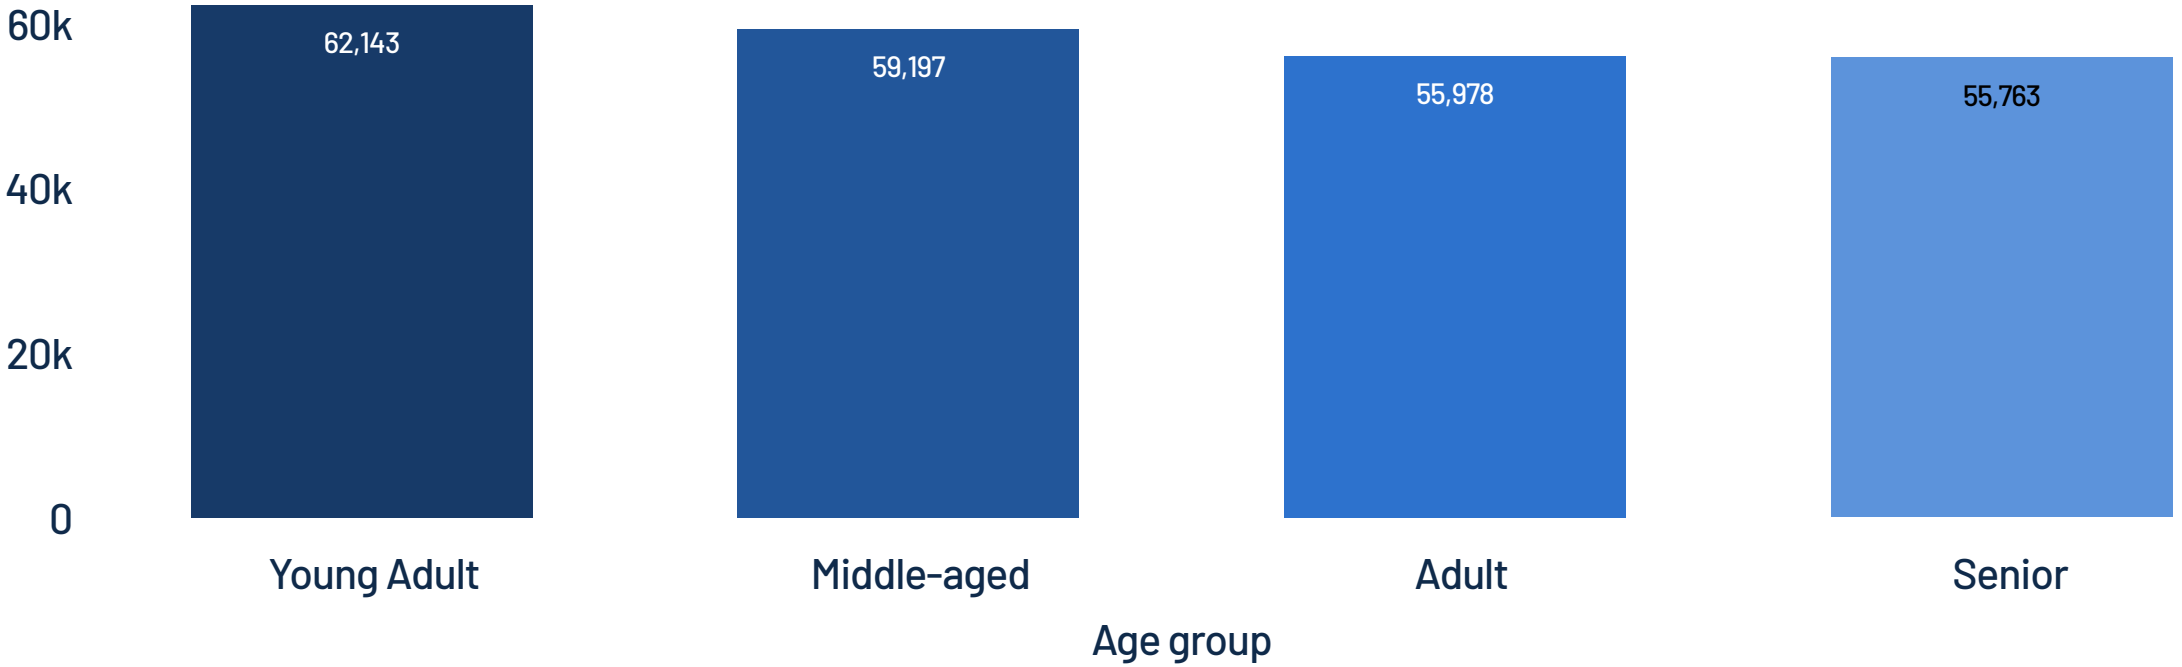

Average spend

$170,436 revenue

2,847 non-subscribed records

Made with GAMMA

Young Adults lead revenue, but group size matters

Totals reflect group size as well as spending behavior.

Made with GAMMA

Most customers are already loyal

3,116
Loyal

701
Returning

83
New

Based on the previous purchases field, not full customer history.

Made with GAMMA

Discounts reach nearly half of purchases for some products

Product	Discount applied
Hat	50.00%
Sneakers	49.66%
Coat	49.07%
Sweater	48.17%
Pants	47.37%

839

Discounted purchases were at or above average order value.

Made with GAMMA

Top-rated products and category bestsellers

Highest rated

Product	Rating
Gloves	3.86
Sandals	3.84
Boots	3.82
Hat	3.80
Skirt	3.78

Top sellers

Product	Purchases
Jewelry	171
Blouse and Pants	171
Sandals	160
Jacket	163

Express averages $60.48 vs $58.46 for Standard, a small gap.

Made with GAMMA

The Power BI dashboard puts it all in one view

3.9K customers · 3.75 average rating · $59.76 average purchase · Subscription donut, category and age-group charts, and slicers

Made with GAMMA